

KING COUNTY REGIONAL

IDENTIFICATION PROGRAM

AFIS Mission

Automated Fingerprint Identification System

The Regional AFIS Program promotes public safety and contributes to crime reduction by providing expert fingerprint identification services to criminal justice agencies throughout King County.

Before King County AFIS

- Backlogs due to manual processes
- Rare to ID someone prior to release
- Fingerprints not taken on all arrests
- Incomplete, delayed update of rap sheets
- Crime scene prints only confirmed when a suspect was known

AFIS Program Evolution

- Electronic fingerprinting ("livescan") at police stations & jails
- All individuals booked are printed
- Direct transmission to AFIS for matching
- ID prior to release; warrant checks
- Rap sheets complete
- Examiner now gives suspect name to the investigator!

Palm "Hit" in Shoreline Case

- Break-in and rape of 12-year old girl
- No known suspect
- Examiners found palm print; searched it through new AFIS
- Arrest within three days
- Jesse Gonzales will serve 25 years to life

AFIS Funding

- Countywide property tax levy
every 5-6 years since 1986
- Spent less than predicted 2007-2012
savings returned to taxpayers by reducing tax rate each year
- AFIS levy set to expire December 2012
- On general election ballot November 6, 2012
- 5.92 cents per $1,000/AV
bound by inflation at 1-3%
- $20.72/year ($1.73/month) for a median $350,000 home

Why is AFIS levy-funded and not under the County's general fund?

- There is no county- or state-level mandate or funding mechanism for a shared regional program of this nature.
- By state law, each local police agency is required to handle its own criminal fingerprint work or rely on WSP for basic services.
- Criminal ID services are provided to all police agencies in the county, through this regional approach.

2013-2018 Levy Continuing Services

- Maintain status quo services
- $6.75 million in efficiency reductions
 - 11 positions eliminated
 - through attrition
 - no reduction in services
 - overtime budget reduced
 - other cuts in expenses
- AFIS Advisory Committee directive:
 - continue finding efficiencies in operations over next six years

2013-2018 Levy Initiatives and Improvements

Replace Processing Lab

$11.5 million reserve

- Current lab - outdated, undersized, inefficient, presents safety issues
- Serves 37 cities, unincorporated areas

Remote Fingerprinting

$1.5 million reserve

Fast ID verification

- Field
- Courtroom

2013-2018 Levy

What if the levy failed, and there was no further funding?

Assess and try again:

- Survey voters
- Restructure proposal to address concerns
- Resubmit for future ballot measure

Consider alternatives:

- Absorb costs into city and county general funds
- Explore contracting or other models
- Rely on WSP for basic and limited services

Reduce or eliminate support for:

- AFIS & Livescan technology
- 24/7 arrest identification
- WSP & FBI rap sheet notification
- Crime scene and evidence processing
- Suspect identification
- Regional services and officer training

Questions?

"The investigative tools provided by the Regional AFIS Program are essential to our ability to fight crime in King County.

From identifying felons with warrants for their arrest to catching repeat auto thieves and burglars, AFIS allows law enforcement to quickly identify suspects and hold them accountable.

The services AFIS provides are critical to an effective criminal justice system."
